CROSS Lanes

I woke up on Saturday morning, called a skate Bud and hit the Dog to relieve early morning frustrations of the night before. I picked John up at 10AM. It was cool and sunny, the perfect Combo for skating. 40 min later we reached a gate that seemed to be there for protection. I was boggled when he asked me who I was and what did I want. I told him I was here to Rip. He just looked at me. I saw I was not getting in so I broke down to civilian talk. I'm here to see Gary Anderson. He let us in. We drove around a lake and began wondering if this was a resort or a place where people live. IT was #2. We saw the Halfpipe on the other side of the Lake and proceeded to assault it. We stayed all day and then headed back home. I came back the next day with a different friend. Also the next weekend. Then I decided to build my ramp.

The ramp in Cross Lanes had to be taken down because of neighbors and such, but they are re-building though.

My neighbors are cool where the ramp is. They even invite us to parties and stuff because we skate so much. Later Ridge
